3-Inch Snow Hits City, Slows Traffic

2-Below Reading Recorded

Mercury Up To 19 at Noon

More than three inches of snow blanketed the Mansfield area today in the wake of yesterday's frigid two-below-zero temperature. It was the heaviest snowfall of the winter.

The snow, which started falling shortly after midnight, made roads in the area slippery. City, county and state crews moved out in force to combat the hazardous conditions.

Scores of cars stalled on grades at intersections when drivers stopped for traffic lights. At times during the morning there were lines of autos on the South Main street hill at the light at Lexington avenue.

The weatherman said the biting cold would remain through tomorrow. He predicted that at least five inches of snow will cover most of Ohio before the storm is over. Three inches had fallen by noon.

Tuesday will be cloudy, windy, moderately cold, with the possibility of more snow, the forecast said.

The mercury, which dived to two degrees below zero at 7:30 a. m. yesterday climbed steadily through the day and night and stood at 19 degrees at noon today.

Street Supt. E. W. Davis reported that two graders and two trucks with plows were in action today keeping the main thoroughfares passable. He said 30 men were working on snow removal. Salt was spread over cleared streets.

8 CREWS BUSY

Walter E. Rusk, county engineer, put eight crews to work this morning salting and cindering hills and school bus and mail delivery routes.

As the snowfall became heavier, he put five graders into action, calling in the trucks to equip them with plows. They will be pressed into action if the fall continues he said.

The state highway maintenance garage reported that cinder crews, following eight truck mounted plows and a road grader were in action this morning. The state highway patrol reported roads in the area slippery, but passable and warned motorists to proceed with caution.

The snow forced the cancellation of the TWA New York to Chicago flight. The plane nor-

Groundhog Gets Ready For Big Day

PUNXSUTAWNEY, Pa.—(AP)—A little animal with a prophetic shadow stretched and yawned in his underground lair today while a group of weather-conscious humans debated the possible results of his awakening.

Before dawn on Feb. 2, members of the Punxsutawney Groundhog club will make their annual pilgrimmage to Gobbler's Knob to watch their favorite woodchuck emerge from his hole.

If he sees his shadow, the nation will be in for six more weeks of wintry blasts. If he sees no shadow, look for springlike breezes soon.

2 Seek GOP Treasurer Nomination

Robinson Mentioned As Mayor Candidate

A contest for the GOP nomination for city treasurer developed today, while Former Sheriff Frank E. Robinson was mentioned as a possible candidate for the Democratic nomination for mayor.

Attorney Rex Larson, 190 Bowland road, filed on the Republican ticket for treasurer. Charles E. Bahl, 550 West Third street, said he would file for the same office.

Ex-Sheriff Robinson said he hadn't made up his mind about running for mayor. Former Councilman Charles O. Anglin is considered a probable candidate for mayor on the Democratic ticket, although he withheld an announcement.

One other petition was filed today—that of John Deyarmon, of 210 Wood street, who seeks the Republican nomination for First ward councilman.

Deyarmon's announcement was interpreted by political leaders as meaning that Councilman Thomas J. Wright, now First ward councilman, will seek another office, possibly mayor.

Wright said he was still undecided today about running for mayor. He said he would have something to say about it tomorrow.

Rumors that Attorney Leslie K. Wagner would seek the Democratic nomination for city solicitor are without foundation. Wagner said today he did not intend to seek the nomination.

New Atom Bombs

They're 'Much More' Powerful

By FRANK CAREY

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The United States has new atomic bombs which are much more explosive than the old ones.

The atomic energy commission, which has hinted previously that it had developed more powerful weapons than those dropped on Japan or at Bikini, announced it outright today in its fifth semi-annual report to Congress.

And it said "furthur developments are now in progress."

It related for the first time that the three weapons tested at Eniwetok Atoll last spring demonstrated "a substantial gain in (explosive) energy release" over previous models.

Chairman David Lilienthal made it clear at a news conference that "as used in this report" the term atomic weapon means "bomb."

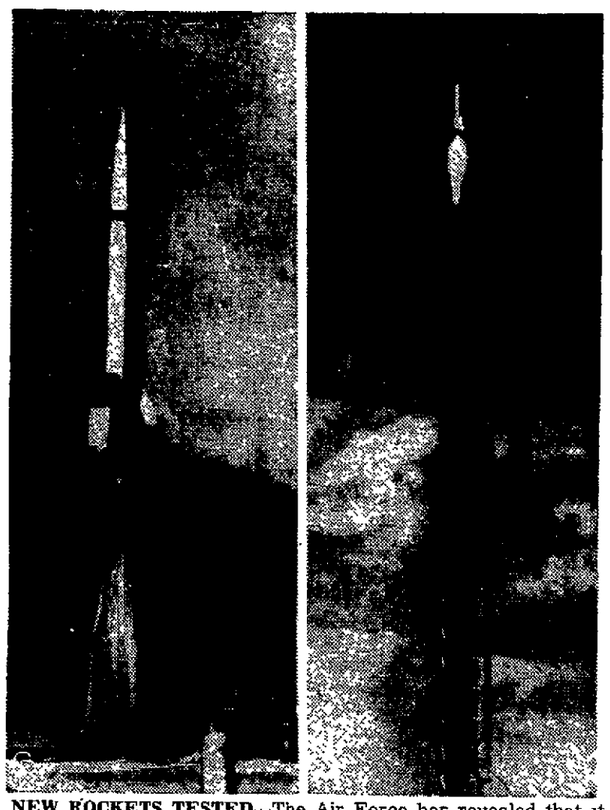
But he declined comment when asked whether the United States is seeking to obtain atomic weapons other than bombs.

The commission told Congress it took steps during 1948 to protect its major plants against sabotage and to provide "for the emergency defense of vital facilities against attack."

But it said "production and improvement of atomic weapons" has continued to receive its major attention. And in that department it reported "important advances" — in making atomic materials and weapons, as well as in developing new designs.

It said study of the three highly secret atomic tests conducted at Eniwetok in the spring of 1948 "have firmly established that a substantial gain in energy release was obtained."

And it indicated that its new designs are in production for the nation's atomic stockpile by noting that the Eniwetok tests "pointed the way to the production of new weapons".



NEW ROCKETS TESTED—The Air Force has revealed that it has been experimenting with two new U. S.-built guided missiles in connection with its program for training personnel as launching crews. At left, the "774" is fired by technicians at White Sands, New Mexico. At right, the "Natv" roars upwards from its launching platform at Holoman Air Base, N. M. Each is powered with a rocket motor and resembles a German V-2.

Jerusalem 'Chosen City'

Israeli Will Move Capital

TEL AVIV —(UP)— Reliable sources said today that Jerusalem soon may be declared the capital of Israel.

These sources said that the cabinet of Premier David Ben Gurion has appointed a committee of four to arrange the transfer of all government departments from Tel Aviv to the Holy City.

The Israeli hold only the Moder area of Jerusalem. Arab force of trans-Jordan hold the old walled city, which contains monuments sacred to Jews, Christians and Moslems alike.

Most plans for partition of Palestine have envisaged Jerusalem as being placed under international control, rather than as part of either an Arab state in Palestine or of Israel.

It was believed that Arab leaders would resist any attempt of Israel to include Jerusalem in the new Jewish state.

Vision Leads Search Party To Sunken Car

HUNTINGTON, W. Va. —(AP)— A father, who said he had a vision while praying, yesterday led a search party to a wrecked auto in which his son and a friend had been killed, Coroner W. W. Lynd reported.

The dead men were identified as Ernest Swindler, 16, and Charles Boggs, 22. The car was found to 10 feet below the surface of a creek near Proctorville, O.

Lynd said Raymond Boggs, father of Charles, told him he had a vision Saturday which showed him the exact spot where the car was found.

The car, Lynd said, had plunged into Indian Guyan Creek from a detour of flooded state Route Seven.

The younger Boggs was employed by the Gwin Milling company in Huntington. Swindler was a Proctorville high school student.

Call Her Ace Propagandist

Vets Want Sally To 'Get the Works'

Mansfield's veterans of the war in Europe were more amused than angered by Axis Sally's radio broadcasts for the Nazis, but they hope she "gets the works" at her treason trial now in progress in Washington.

Sally, who is Mildred Gillars, daughter of a former Mansfield dentist, was the Nazis' highest paid woman broadcaster during the war. She directed her propaganda to American soldiers in Europe and their families in the United States

If found guilty of treason, she could be sentenced to death.

Louis Doerr, past commander of the Amvets, thinks if Miss Gillars retained her American citizenship, she should be punished for her crime.

"I hate to see her get death," Doerr said, "but if that is what our constitution calls for in the case of such a crime, then we will have to abide by the constitution."

Doerr was serving with the Psychological Warfare division of the army at the time Axis Sally was making her broadcasts to the American servicemen, and recalls that his outfit rated her program "one of the better and more effective programs" from the standpoint of enemy propaganda.

"At that time", he said, "there were a number of women broadcasting over German radios, but Axis Sally was considered by our outfit as being the best propagandist."

John Precup, Mansfield, R. D. 3, said Axis Sally should be given "the works."

"After all," Precup declared, "she lived in America and chose that other life in Germany of her own free will. She should suffer the consequences."

Precup was serving as Torpedoman with the U. S. Navy at a submarine base in Scotland in 1943, when he first heard the broadcasts.

"We picked up Axis Sally practically every night," he said. "On several occasions she specifically mentioned us in her broadcasts when she urged the Americans at our base to desert and come over to the Nazis."

Dale Beer, 16 Glenbeck lane, thinks that as "an American citizen, Miss Gillars should pay for her crimes.

"I don't believe in the death sentence but I think she should get life," he declared. "It would be what she deserves."

Beer remembers that he was sitting in an orchard in France the latter part July, 1944, when he first heard an Axis Sally program.

A truck was parked about fifty or 75 feet from us, on the road, and the radio was turned on. We were enjoying the recordings of popular tunes, when a woman's voice interrupted the music. It was Axis Sally, he said.

"During the broadcast she mentioned the names of several divisions in our territory, and we were surprised when she didn't name the Ninth Infantry, our outfit", Beer said.

However, he explained that the men in his outfit weren't too impressed with her broadcasts, but they enjoyed the music.

Blame Gas In Death Of Man

Police Unable To Revive Worker

Charles Weatherbee, about 56, was found dead in his gas-filled bedroom at 41 Library court shortly after 1 p. m. Sunday.

Coroner D. C. Lavender ruled death was due to asphyxiation, resulting from a faulty gas stove.

According to police, who rushed an inhalator to Weatherbee's home, Weatherbee was discovered by George Fortney, an employe of the Colony Bowling alleys who went to the home after Weatherbee failed to show up for work at the alleys.

Fortney told police he was unable to awaken Weatherbee and returned to the alleys for Art Hilborn, manager, who summoned a physician. Police said a small gas stove in Weatherbee's room was burning but that fumes had no chance to escape the closed-up room.

Weatherbee is survived by a son and his mother, and by a sister, Mrs. C. V. Corey of Lockport, N. Y. He was a member of the Moose Lodge.

Friends of the dead man did not know the names of his mother and son who are believed to be residents of New York state.

The body was removed to the Wappner funeral home pending completion of funeral arrangements.

Tobin Backs Labor Bill

Defends Loss Of Injunction

WASHINGTON — (INS) — Labor Secretary Tobin today urged Congress to enact a substitute for the Taft-Hartley law which will establish a "sound national labor policy" and remove the threat of destruction of unions "by unscrupulous employers."

The secretary went before the Senate Labor Committee to defend the administration's proposed new labor law which scraps the Taft-Hartley measure, reenacts the Wagner act and makes "imrovements" in the latter in line with recommendations of President Truman.

The administration bill knocks out the use of anti-strike injunctions in national emergency disputes.

In the face of congressional criticism that the new law would leave the government practically helpless in major strikes, Tobin vigorously defended its provisions as "avoiding the twin evils of compulsory arbitration and rigidity of procedure."

He assailed the "evils" of the Taft-Hartley act's 80-day injunction weapon against national emergency walkouts.

The proposed new law would provide only for a 30-day "cooling-off" period while a presidential emergency board investigates and makes recommendations for the settlement of a national emergency dispute.

Relatives To Claim Million

AKRON—(AP)—Two women have identified themselves so far as relatives of eccentric 80-year-old Frances Louise Butler, who left an estimated $1,000,000 estate.

Mrs. Louise Abbey Cooley, who lives in a suburb of Buffalo, N. Y., says she intends to claim a share in the fortune "when the proper time is decided by my attorney."

Mrs. Cooley said her father, the late Alfred H. Abbey, was Miss Butler's first cousin.

In San Gabriel, Calif., Mrs. David L. Scott said she was a second cousin of the dead woman and added "I suppose we'll do something about claiming it—I don't know."

Miss Butler's attorney said there were no known relatives to inherit the estate and that Miss Butler left no will.

"I suppose I'm Miss Butler's oldest living relative," Mrs Scott said. "I haven't seen her since I was a girl back in Olean, N. Y. She was young then. There are other second cousins, but their relationship would be a generation later than mine."

The three administrators of the estate of the woman who spent the last 30 years of her life in a $2.75-a-day hotel room here have left Akron. Their families reported only they would be "out of town until late Monday or early Tuesday."

One person who attended Miss Butler's funeral Saturday was able to supply a little information about her past. J. Al Crist recalled that 50 years ago when he played in orchestras in Cincinnati and New York opera houses she was an opera star.

He said she studied at the Boston Conservatory of Music and later finished her musical education at the Conservatory of the University of Moscow, Russia.

The body of the aged recluse who died Thursday of pneumonia, will remain in Akron possibly until spring, it was reported today, because weather conditions in Olean, N. Y., her birthplace, would prevent burial

A search of her hotel room Saturday night uncovered about $500,000 in jewels, negotiable securities and bank pass books.

Her administrators said she also had extensive holdings in New York City, estimated at half a million dollars or more.

Miss Butler came to Akron some 60 years ago with her family, but she had few close acquaintances. Her father, Nelson Butler, had been a wealthy Brooklyn dry goods merchant."

Truman Silent On Move

Link Norway To Gesture

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The White House repeated today that President Truman is willing to meet Premier Stalin in Washington. Presidential Secretary Charles Ross emphasized that there has been "no official word from the Russian government" regarding such a meeting.

(Compiled From Wire Services)

The so-called Russian "peace offensive" reached a new peak of intensity today. The head man took over.

Premier Josef Stalin let it be known that he was ready to talk peace with President Truman, to sign a peace pact with the United States, and to lift the Berlin blockade under certain conditions.

Stalin took a personal hand in the cold war by means of an answer to a brief questionnaire submitted by J. Kingsbury Smith for International News Service.

Skepticism keynoted the western reception of Stalin's statement. The attitude generally was one of wait-and-see suspicion — of wait for some action to back up words that had a familiar ring.

President Truman and top state department officials refused to comment on Stalin's statement that he would not object to a meeting with the U. S. chief executive to work out a "pact of peace."

Top congressional leaders, however, joined in urging the government to consider carefully the Stalin statement.

Sen. Tom Connally, chairman of the Senate foreign relations committee, declared that Stalin's statement, "has within it the possibilities of international harmony."

Rep. Sol. Bloom, chairman of the house foreign affairs committee, urged President Truman to "explore all possibilities of peace, while shunning any sort of appeasement."

BRITISH SEE TRICK

British officials said the statement as an effort to wheedle an accord with Norway a nation the Soviets had failed to intimidate. Sweden offered Stockholm as a possible Truman-Stalin meeting place, but was frankly pessimistic that such a meeting would be held.

At Lake Success, the Soviets were reported preparing a new statement on world disarmament for the United Nations. It seemed no coincidence that such a statement would come on the heels of Stalin's expression of readiness to join the United States in gradual disarmanent.

Diplomats at the UN foresaw the prospective statement as a Kremlin follow through on Stalin's peace pronouncement.

Western Europe was inclined to place less emphasis on Stalin's statement than on Russia's request to Norway for information on Norse intentions concerning the proposed Atlantic defense pact.

Oslo announced that Sweden had refused to be associated with the Atlantic pact, and the refusal had broken up negotiations for a Scandinavian defense alliance of Norway, Denmark and Sweden.

Bandits Get $70,000

MIAMI BEACH, —(AP)— Two gunmen robbed the Mercantile National Bank of Miami Beach of $60,000 to $70,000 in cash shortly after 8 a. m. today.

Two night clerks—E. L. Jeter and J. W. Dameron—were held up as they started to place night deposits in a small night depository room.

The gunmen bound, gagged and handcuffed the clerks and threw them into a hole beneath the escalator.

S. W. Curry, cashier, said on the basis of last week-end's night deposits he estimated the sum stolen around $60,000 to $70,000.

Detective Sam Frederick said the robbery apparently was set up last Friday.

He said the gunmen apparently posed as workmen Friday and went through the Miami Beach Theatre, adjacent to the bank, and knocked a hole in the wall beneath the escalator.

Cleveland Hunts Song of Its Own

CLEVELAND—(INS)—Cleveland is looking for a song it can call its own.

At least, that's the pronouncement of the Cleveland convention and visitors bureau which reported grimly over the week end that "Mose Cleaveland is songshopping."

The convention bureau announced plans to sponsor a contest with $250 going to the songwriter who comes up with the best tune singing the praises of the "Forest City."

VA Limits Branch Duties

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The Veterans Administration moved today to cut an estimated $10,000,000 a year from its operating costs through a major overhaul of its administrative setup.

Administrator Carl R. Gray, jr., said the action involves relieving VA's 13 branch offices of supervisory duties. Instead, they will become district offices limited to the handling of National Service Life Insurance and Death Claims.

Effective tomorrow, he said, the 71 regional offices and all VA hospitals will report directly to headquarters here instead of to branch offices. Branches affected are in Boston, New York, Philadelphia, Chicago, Richmond, Atlanta, Columbus, Minneapolis, Denver, San Francisco, St. Louis, Seattle and Dallas.

Communism In the U. S. A.

Spy Probe a Thankless Job, Glad He's Through

By ROBERT E. STRIPLING
(Edited by Bob Considine)

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the second of a series of twenty-eight articles examining the communist conspiracy in the United States. Mr. Stripling was until recently the sparkplug of the House committee that uncovered widespread communist propaganda and espionage. In this exclusive series he will show the reader, for the first time, the inner workings of the House un-american Activities committee. Stripling will name names, describe Red infiltration into government circles, and give pertinent background to cases now in the public eye.)

The chief way in which Congress gains enough information to shap new legislation is through the questioning of competent witnesses. That has been true since the birth of the Republic.

Congressional hearings led to a great proportion of the statutes and constitutional amendments by which we are guided today. Out of congressional hearings have come laws touching the lives of every citizen. Out of these hearings have come many reforms, notably in banking, speculation, public health, education, transportation and many other fields.

Some kind of congressional investigation is being pursued virtually every minute of the day and night, year in and out. Many of these are obscure and seldom see the light of a front page or a network broadcast.

But that has never been true of the House un-American Activities committee. From the day of its birth until the present it has been the most hotly controversial committee in congress. If properly run by the 81st Congress, it will continue to be an explosive arm of government

A short-lived special committee "to investigate un-American activities" was set up in 1936, with Rep. John McCormack (D., Mass.) as chairman.

The following year, Detroit was crippled by the introduction of the sitdown strike, Rep. Martin Dies (D., Tex.) took the flo. of the House during the strike to denounce it as a communist tactic imported from France.

At the conclusion of that day's session, Dies was asked to call on Vice President Garner. Garner, familiar with Dies' speech, urged his fellow Texan to round up support for the formation of an un-American activities committee that would have more substance and more

Gouged In Flight

Rammed Airliner Lands, 33 Saved

NEW YORK—(AP)—A giant airliner, gashed open by a small private plane in a collision 4,000 feet in the air, made a safe emergency landing yesterday with its load of 33 persons uninjured.

The two men in the private plane were killed, and parts of one body and pieces of their shattered craft showered down on Long Island.

The engine and front part of the private plane, the body of one of its occupants and part of the body of the other were imbedded in a jagged hole in the top of the four-engined Pan American World Airways Constellation.

The planes crashed over Port Washington, N. Y., and Captain George Knuth skillfully landed the battered constellation at Mitchel Field, about ten miles away.

The collision occurred a few minutes after the airliner, "Monarch of the Skies," had left La Guardia field for London at 4:17 p. m. (EST) carrying 23 passengers and ten crew members.

Most of the passengers left for London on other planes early today.

The dead are Arthur Dutting, 57, pilot, of Portland, Conn., and his passenger, Eugene Kowalczyk, 35, of Middleton, Conn.

Those aboard the airliner escaped by a stroke of luck when a hole 15 feet long and five feet wide was gouged out of the top of the fuselage. The front of the small Cessna 140 plane was imbedded just to the rear of the constellation's flight deck in a space devoted to the galley and to some made-up berths. There were no passengers or crew at the spot when the planes collided.

Knuth said the small plane "flew into the top" of the constellation. It was daylight and the weather was clear.

Pan American said the passengers on the big airliner included one Ohioan, George Edward, 49, of South Euclid.

PILES
Are Never "Mild"
DANGER IN NEGLECT

Although they may seem a "mild" ailment, especially when not giving pain or inconvenience, piles are in fact tumor formation without tendency to heal themselves; instead, they are likely, if neglected, to keep increasing in size, involving more and more of the rectal area.

Even a so-called "mild" case may be expected to undermine one's health, by inviting, predisposing to or aggravating other ailments, such as: indigestion, billiousness, stomach trouble, constipation, headaches, pain in back and down the legs, secondary anemia with its run-down tired feeling, and general nervous irritability.

Removal of piles is the only permanent relief—written guarantee. My method produces little or no discomfort, does not require the use of knife or drugs, and seldom is the patient required to lose any time from work or other duties.

Why not call and learn of this method? The examination is free.

Write for reference and booklet "What Your Neighbors Say." Satisfied patients in over 200 cities, towns and villages.

The prosecutor said he was arrested Friday in Mansfield in connection with the theft of an automobile belonging to Peter Gregory, Crestline theater owner.

Following his arrest, Cooper appeared before Judge Ahl as a probation violator and was sentenced on the original charge, which carries a sentence of from one to 15 years.

Hoover Sees Tax at Brim

WASHINGTON — (UP) — Former president Herbert Hoover said today that this country has reached "the saturation point" in taxation and that government costs must be reduced.

Mr. Hoover testified before the House Executive Expenditures committee in support of President Truman's request for broad powers to reorganize the government. He said that "economies would be considerable" through the grant of such power.

He stressed the need for such economies, saying the burden of government is piling up on the average citizen.

Mr. Hoover said that at present "we have a form of organization that is hopeless by way of economy."

Frank Burton, park superintendent, said today the Liberty and North Lake park skating ponds will be open to the public tomorrow.

"The ice already is frozen," Burton reported, "but it is covered with snow and we won't be able to get crews to clean it until tomorrow. They have to concentrate on clearing the park walks today.

Building Junk Yard Big Task For Players' Committee

By MARGUERITE MILLER

Ten candidates for the "busiest women in Mansfield" title may well belong to the property committee for the Mansfield Community Players' production, "Suds In Your Eye," to be presented Feb. 8 and 9 at John Simpson auditorium.

Headed by Mrs. Betsy McGinty, the committee has been faced with rounding up everything from wooden Indians to bull's heads and bathtubs. They have a pretty good chance of getting the Indian, but they fear they'll have to substitute another animal for the bull.

So far the property list of some 30-odd items is fairly well filled. A kitchen sink, bedsprings, car cushions, and "home made" sunflowers, lilies and rosebushes have been added. All the unusual "props" will be used in the junkyard setting of the rollicking comedy.

Meanwhile, Walter Perl, technical director of the play, reported that he has rounded up 1,608 beer cans for the junk-yard fence —one of the most "imposing" features of the play's setting.

Members of the busy property committee, under Mrs. McGinty's direction, include: Miss Shirley Anson, Miss Ruth Preston, Miss Marian Draffan, Mrs. Nancy Talcott, Miss Eleanor Bond, Mrs. Dorothy French and Mrs. Clarice Clark, who have small parts in the show, Mrs. Phyllis Schettler and Mrs. Jane Taylor. Miss Anson and Mrs. Taylor, assigned to costumes for the show, volunteered their services on the property committee.

Ex-Newsman Given Post

Alvin L. Krieg, former Mansfield public relations man, and at one time service editor of The News-Journal, has been appointed assistant director of public relations of American Steel and Wire company, it was announced today.

A native of Lorain, Krieg spent 10 years in newspaper and press association work before coming to Mansfield in 1939 as public relations representative for Westinghouse. In 1941, he joined the News-Journal staff as service editor, and served in that capacity until he left for the Army.

Upon his discharge from service, he entered the public relations staff of the American Steel and Wire company, a U. S. Steel subsidiary, in February, 1946. He is married and resides in Lorain.

Rail Parley Will Reopen

CHICAGO —(AP)— A conference between representatives of the nation's railroads and 16 nonoperating unions arjourned Saturday and planned to resume its wage-hour talks Tuesday morning.

Neither side would comment on what gains, if any, toward settlement were made yesterday except for one railroad spokesman who said "the conferees are making progress."

The unions, representing a million workers, are legally free to call a strike at any time if negotiations over wages and hours fail. All legal preliminaries to a strike have been complied with.

Both sides have expressed dissatisfaction with recommendations of a fact finding board. The unions had demanded a wage boost of 25 cents an hour, and a reduction in the work week from 48 to 40 hours. They also asked time and a half for Saturday work and double time for Sundays and holidays.

WRIGHT, ANGLIN ENTER MAYOR RACE

Proposes Larger Reservoir

BeVier Wants Capacity Doubled

A recommendation that the capacity of the Woodland reservoir be increased from six to 12 million gallons at an estimated cost of $300,000 was made by B. V. BeVier, city sanitary engineer in his annual report released today.

When originally built in 1937, the reservoir was planned to hold 12 million gallons, but financial limitations forced the reduction in size.

BeVier explained that the peak summer demand is in excess of the present capacity of the reservoir and that potential capacity and demand (when the Clear Fork project is completed) will be 10 million gallons a day.

"The reservoir should have a capacity of 12 million gallons to provide a one day reserve supply plus additional water for fire service," the engineer wrote.

He pointed out that the capacity of the present reservoir located at the southwest edge of the city is equal to the daily demand, and water is flowing out of the reservoir as fast as it is flowing into it.

24-HOUR SUPPLY

In case of a pump breakdown or a power failure, the reservoir would be emptied in 24 hours or less, depending upon the season, BeVier said.

He added that if a big fire should break out at the same time, the results might be disastrous.

If the reservoir should become two-thirds empty, as it did a year ago when a water line broke, residents of the Woodland area would be deprived of water—because the intake tube for the water tank that supplies the area is at the six-foot level.

If an addition to the reservoir is approved, it would be built adjacent to the present reservoir, following the original plans.

BeVier's report revealed that:

The water department pumped 2,054,486,085 gallons of water in 1948, of which 748,907,085 were unpaid for, because of faulty meters and leaks.

In terms of dollars and cents, the loss of 36.3 per cent of all water pumped cost the city about $175,600 in revenue, based on the average price paid by consumers for the water.

CANTON — (AP) — Stark County Sheriff Harry W grossglaus' motion to deny former Sheriff Richard France a new trial in the much-disputed recount of last November's election ballots has been overruled by the Fifth District Court of Appeals.

Ching Rips Labor Mediation Transfer In T-H Repeal Bill

Ex-PW's Confront Axis Sal

WASHINGTON — (UP) — Two former prisoners of war were called today to tell a federal court jury about their radio interview with Mildred E. Gillars on her "Axis Sally" broadcast.

The scheduled government witnesses are Grover Cleveland McKinnery, former army captain now a student at the University of Denver, and Harvey Crosthwaite of Hamilton, Ont., former Canadian captain.

According to the prosecution, Miss Gillars obtained and transcribed spoken messages from them and other prisoners on visits to Nazi hospitals in prison camps.

The jury yesterday heard a recording of a D-Day drama, made at a U. S. government listening post in Maryland.

Adelbert Houben, former boss of Miss Gillars in the Nazi radio service, testified that she appeared on the program. He said he recognized her voice.

The radio drama opened with sound effects of battle action, and an announcer's voice intoning:

"The D of D-day stands for doom disaster death . . . defeat . . . Dunkirk or Dieppe."

Other voices described the dead troops of the Dieppe invasion.

"They looked like dressed meat in a butcher shop," said one. "Roasted geese," said another.

Miss Gillars allegedly played the role of an American mother who talked to her soldier-son in a dream, and learned that he had been killed in the invasion.

Right-Footed Shoes Disappear In Theft

CHICAGO — (INS) — Thieves who broke into the automobile of Albert L. Friedman, Chicago shoe salesman, made off with a sample case containing 32 women's shoes.

But the shoes, valued at $100, won't be of much use to the burglars. They're all for the right foot.

Testifies Before Senate

Calls Measure Backward Step

WASHINGTON — (INS) — A top government labor official today brought an inter-administration quarrel into the open by opposing transfer of the Federal Mediation service back to the jurisdiction of the Labor department.

Cyrus S. Ching, mediation service director, went before the Senate Labor committee to condemn this key feature of the Democratic substitute for the Taft-Hartley law.

The 72-year-old mediator told the committee concerning the proposed shift of his agency to Labor Secretary Tobin's supervision:

"It would be a step backwards in the very important job of strengthening our industrial democracy by promoting sound practices and usages of collective bargaining and minimizing and preventing labor disputes."

Ching pointed out that the secretary of labor—under the organic act of his department—must espouse the welfare of workers.

Thus, he said, if the mediation unit's independent status is destroyed, Labor department officers running it will lack the confidence of many employers who will have suspicions as to their impartiality. Ching declared:

'TAKE NO SIDES'

"It should be clear that mediators must be completely insulated from law enforcement and take no sides in legislative programs on which employers and unions disagree."

Democratic members generally endorsed the argument of Secretary of Labor Tobin that the "force of public opinion" and the "powers of the President" are sufficient to protect the country.

Republican Senators Taft, Ohio, Morse, Oregon, and Aiken, Vt., take the opposite view. Aiken said the proposed substitute for the Taft-Hartley law has only "false teeth" as far as John L. Lewis and a possible future coal strike are concerned.

Attorney General Tom Clark may clarify the issue of just what authority President Truman has in a national emergency labor dispute if the Democratic legislation is enacted knocking out the use of anti-strike injunctions.

Sen. Thomas (D-Okla), committee chairman, asked Clark to submit a written report to the Senate Labor committee.

MANHATTAN GUN BATTLE—While three policemen (circle) crouch behind car and another (right) holds a rifle in readiness, a tear gas bomb explodes on sidewalk in front of house on East 69th street, at New York, as police close in on Elmer Stanford, 40 suspect in the rifle shooting of a Catholic priest in confessional of a nearby church. Police had failed to talk Stanford into surrendering and attempted to toss the tear gas bomb into his second floor window. The bomb struck the front of the building and exploded on the sidewalk. Stanford was captured.

Nazi-Loving Parrot Ends Up Missing

MUNICH—(INS)—Munich's famous pro-nazi parrot which shouts "Heil Hitler," on the slightest provocation, has disappeared from the Munich zoo.

Caretakers fear that the bird known as Laura, was "kidnaped.""

Laura attracted considerable attention recently with disclosure that zoo officials were trying to "denazify" her speech.

Senate Gets Bill In War On Gaming

Would Bolster Lausche's Hand

COLUMBUS — (AP) — Gov. Frank J. Lausche's plea for power to wage state-wide war on organized gambling got Senate attention today.

Sen. W. H. Daugherty (D-Columbiana) asked the legislature in a bill to grant the authority the governor asked in his Jan. 17 "state of the state" address.

Lausche said he acted in his 1945-46 term against mayors failing to enforce gambling laws. He wanted the power extended to cover sheriffs and make it county-wide. This would embrace the entire state.

"We occasionally find in our state a sheriff who flagrantly refuses to enforce the law and permits the operation of racketeering commercial gambling enterprises," Lausche told the General assembly.

Daugherty's bill of last night would allow the governor to oust sheriffs blind to gambling in their counties. It would do this under a clause providing for removal for gross neglect of duty. Other reasons for removal include bribery, gross immorality or gross drunkenness.

Thirty-day suspensions without pay are provided to permit public hearings on ouster charges before removal.

Pleas to erase bans against strikes by public workers and sale of colored oleo were raised as new bills flooded the legislature.

House Labor committee members opened hearings on measures to wipe out last session's Ferguson act. It forbids strikers by public employes, including school teachers and is a prime target of organized labor.

Stiff Punishment

COLUMBUS — (INS) — The stiffest punishment ever proposed for slot machine operators was contained in a bill sponsored today in the House of Representatives by Rep. Guy C. Hiner (R-Stark.)

Hiner's measure outlawing the one-armed bandits proposed a fine of $100 for the first offense — but up to $5,000 fine and ten years imprisonment for a third conviction.

Vaughn To Have Opponent

Locke Still Interested

Thomas B. Wright, 29-year-old First ward councilman, today announced his candidacy for the Republican nomination for mayor, while Charles O. Anglin, former councilman, said he would file for mayor on the Democratic ticket.

Wright's announcement assured a GOP contest for mayor since Mayor Roy W. Vaughn already had announced he would seek a third term.

Former Mayor William J. Locke is still considered a possible GOP mayoralty candidate. He said today he would not have an announcement to make until tomorrow, the final filing date.

Anglin, who ran for mayor two years ago and lost to Vaughn, is not expected to have opposition in the May primary.

Former Sheriff Frank E. Robinson said today he did not intend to file for the Democratic nomination for mayor. He had been mentioned for the post.

In announcing his candidacy, Wright said he felt "that a young man who was born and raised in Mansfield and has all the necessary qualifications for the office should be able to carry out a progressive program for the benefit of the city."

George Connor, 827 Park avenue west, filed today for president of council on the Democratic ticket while Harry E. Colbow, former South Boulevards mayor, filed for the Democratic nomination for Second ward councilman.

Charles N. Shultz, veteran Republican Second ward councilman, indicated today he would file for re-election.

Robert Y. Davis, Johnny Appleseed junior high school teacher and an active P-TA worker, today announced he will seek the Republican nomination for councilman-at-large.

HOLLINGSWORTH FILES

Harry Hollingsworth, incumbent Republican councilman-at-large, said today he would seek re-election. There are three council-at-large posts to be filled.

Both the Republicans and Democrats have candidates for city solicitor, with the present solicitor, C. J. Kalbfleisch, Republican and Attorney Joseph H. Ellison, Democrat, filing.

Seeking the Republican nomination for Sixth ward councilman is Leonard J. Parrella, of 214 East Second street, while Councilman-at-large Michael Mihalick, of 195 Cline avenue filed for the Democratic nomination for councilman-at-large.

Charles E. Bahl, of 550 West Third street, filed for the Republican nomination for treasurer.

A four-way fight for the three Democratic nominations for councilman-at-large developed with Earl K. Troll, John B. Nicholson, Nelson Swihart and Mihalick in the contest.

There's a contest for the Republican nomination for treasurer, with Attorney Rex Larson and Bahl filing their petitions.

Raging Fire Traps Six

RIPON, Wis. — (INS) — Fire destroyed Ripon's Grand View hotel today and officials said six persons were missing.

Police Chief Ira Dunham said there were more than 40 guests in the hotel when the blaze broke out. He added: "Some of them are still in there."

Dunham estimated the loss at between $75,000 and $100,000 and said it would be impossible to start searching the ruins until the burning embers cooled down.

Some of the guests who escaped fled into the streets in subfreezing weather.

Indian Children Stranded

Freezing Cold Hits Dixieland Orchards

(By United Press)

Dixieland suffered its second hard freeze today as the western range states launched a coordinated effort to smash away the big snowdrifts and carry feed to the West's 5,500,000 starving livestock.

The freezing cold struck again at the citrus and vegetable gardens of southern Texas, the Louisiana strawberry beds, and the Georgia peach orchards.

Highways were dangerous from yesterday's blanket of snow throughout upper Mississippi and Louisiana, northern Alabama and Georgia, Tennessee and North Carolina.

Four hundred men worked emergency shifts to restore electrical power to outlying sections of Atlanta which suffered a complete blackout for a time yesterday. Gainesville and Athens, Ga., also were cut off from power and one newspaper published a mimeographed "ice-bound edition."

An army doctor, Capt. George W. Magladry jr., volunteered to parachute today to the aid of 60 Navajo Indian children stranded in their snowbound Arizona school for more than a week.

A "grasshopper fleet" of Civil Air Patrol planes dropped 1,200 pounds of emergency rations to the children last night. Dr. Philip Scholta, Ft. Defiance, Ariz., doctor, and a nurse were scheduled to be flown there also by helicopter.

Two C-47 Air Force planes dropped food to the 50,000 Navajoes on the reservation and then dispatched two C-54 ships to aid them.

The navy also ordered six RYD's to Phoenix to join the southwest haylift which yesterday dropped a new record of 259,288 pounds of hay to stranded herds in the Nevada area.

From his headquarters at Omaha, Maj. Lewis A. Pick opened a coordinated attack on the snows covering the northern plains.

He sent forth hundreds of caterpillars, bulldozers, scrapers, graders, rotary plows and weasels, controlling them over a special radio network and an elaborate aerial reconnaisance system.

Will Ignore Peace Bid

U. S., Britain Want It Official

WASHINGTON —(INS)— The United States and Britain were agreed today that they would ignore the latest "peace bid" of Soviet Premier Josef Stalin unless submitted in official form.

This agreement was exchanged at a meeting between British Ambassador Sir Oliver Franks and Charles E. Bohlen, top State department adviser on Russian relations.

The unscheduled meeting was held after Franks was instructed by British Foreign Minister Ernest Bevin to present his government's position on the Stalin statement to the United States.

Britains position was the first official foreign reaction given to the State department. The British response appeared to be influenced by a fear that the United States and Russia might undertake some separate agreement.

President Truman reiterated his long-standing position, however, that he would be glad to meet with Stalin at any time, but only in Washington.

CARBONDALE, PA. — (UP) — A whole city block in this anthracite community subsided today when an underground mine caved in. At least three persons were reported injured and 14 homes severely damaged.

Civil War Hits Burma

Fighting Flares Near Rangoon

RANGOON, Burma — (AP) — Fighting between Burmese troops and Karen tribesmen broke out this morning at Sawbwagyigone, 10 miles north of Rangoon.

The fighting is near Insein and Karen sources said the battle raged around the home of Saw-Ba U Gyi, president of the Karen National Union, whom they have not been able to contact since yesterday morning.

The Burmese government did not comment immediately on the new fighting but the bark of trench mortars was clearly audible in Rangoon.

There was considerable tension in Rangoon, although the people have maintained an outward calm.

Earlier, heavy mortar and machinegun fire was reported from the west Rangoon suburb of Ahlone during the night, near the headquarters of the Karen National Union. A huge fire reddened the sky for miles and was clearly visible in Rangoon.

10 Indicted After Probe

CIRCLEVILLE — (AP) — One secret indictment and nine minor indictments were returned yesterday by a special Pickaway county grand jury investigating an alleged night club shakedown attempt.

The jurors were investigating reported attempts to get $1800 from four Circleville night clubs by a "stranger" who promised protection against law enforcement raids.

Court officials and Cline decline to say whether the indictments were connected with the liquor inquiry.

Common Please Judge William Radcliff told the jury not to talk with anyone about the indictments and inquiry.

Sergeants Serve On Army Court

HEIDELBERG, GERMANY — (AP) — Four sergeants took their places beside six officers on a military court for the first time in U. S. history here today, to try two soldiers on a charge of murder.

The accused, Privates First Class Andrew D. Byrd, 31, of Orlando, Fla., and Oscar B. Gannon, 24, of Hanging Rock, O., chose to have the enlisted men on the court under a new rule which went into effect today.

They pleaded innocent to "premeditated murder" of one German civilian and assault of another shortly after midnight Dec. 31, in a brawl outside the home of a German woman in Schwetzingen.

Hawley Resigns State Liquor Post

COLUMBUS —(AP)— The resignation of Harry E. Hawley of Shelby, O., as supervisor of stores and agencies in the state liquor department was announced today.

State Liquor Director Oscar L. Fleckner said he had accepted the resignation, effective Jan. 31.

Hawley, former Mansfield postmaster and clerk of the Richland County Board of Elections, assumed his liquor department duties on Jan. 21, 1947.

Communism In the U. S. A.

Hunters Made Errors But Never Backed Up

By ROBERT E. STRIPLING
(Edited by Bob Considine)

(EDITOR'S NOTE. This is the third of a series of twenty-eight articles examining the communist conspiracy in the United States. Mr. Stripling was until recently the spark plug of the House committee that uncovered widespread communist propaganda and espionage. In this exclusive series he will show the reader, for the first time, the inner workings of the House un-American Activities committee).

I am not a professional apologist for the House un-American Activities committee.

As a member of its investigative staff for ten years I frequently spoke out against its intra-committee bickering, its chronic (as is true of all political groups) inability to keep secret matters secret, and the time it wastes in answering the rugged minority which keeps it under attack.

Those who wish the committee well, but at the same time wish that it could be more discreet in its public and private hearings, tend to compare its conduct with that of, say, an upper judicial court.

It is not a fair comparison. Members of Congress are not necessarily trained as impartial jurists. They operate their hearings under different rules. As elected representatives of their political parties they are subject to the exigencies of their calling. They must run for re-election, keep their names alive in their home-district newspapers, guard their sovereign rights and privileges. It was ever thus and ever will it be.

The chairman of our committee during the Alger Hiss investigation on one occasion asked the members to take an oath that they would not divulge what had taken place in a secret session. They all took the oath.

Within two hours the story was on the front pages of afternoon newspapers throughout the country.

I prepared the difficult Gerhart Eisler case without informing a single member beyond Chairman Thomas, until the night before the witness was called and gave his remarkable performance on the stand. The Eisler case went like clockwork. I would urge the same procedure on my successor.

The committee has made mistakes, but in one chief instance it has never wilted, never backed up: and that is its diligent pursuit of the communist menace in this country.

UNCOVERED ALL FOES

A standard criticism of the committee is that it combats communism wholly and ignores fascism and other un-American activities. Yet up until the time we uncovered the Hiss-Chambers case, 25 per cent of the 19,651 pages of testimony the committee had taken concerned nazi, fascist and Japanese subversive activities.

Committee investigators prepared, as the first case heard

More Snow In Sight

If that sage of weather predictors, namely Mr Groundhog, sees his shadow tomorrow, Mansfielders can expect six more weeks of cold weather.

And the weatherman is willing to predict that the shadow will be there.

Anyway, the weather picture for the next few days will bear out the woodchuck. The five-day outlook states that snow flurries will be seen in the upper portion of the state Wednesday.

Snow is likely Thursday and again Saturday and Sunday, totaling ¼ to ½ inch of precipitation. Temperatures will average 2 to 4 degrees below normal. Rather cold throughout the period with somewhat warmer temperatures over the week end.

The mercury edged up to 23 degrees at noon after dropping to a low of 8 above at 4 a. m. today.

The Ohio river, which last week threatened to stage a mid-winter flood, slowly dropped back into its banks today.

The weather bureau said continued low temperatures made it unlikely that snow blanketing the Ohio river valley would melt fast enough to put the river out of its banks again.

Elementary School On Emergency Footing

Teachers, Pupils Overcome By Fumes

MC ALLEN, Tex —(AP)—Four of an estimated 50 pupils and eight teachers overcome by gas fumes or gas in Lincoln elementary school yesterday were hospitalized and one was given a blood transfusion.

Most of the victims became violently ill when they staggered out of the classrooms. An emergency clinic was set up in the school gymnasium.

Last night the emergency clinic was moved to the fire station. Indications were that there may be more coming back for a second oxygen treatment and others may be feeling the effects for the first time.

A city gas system representative theorized that condensation in the gas pipes, because of the cold, may have resulted in incomplete combustion, causing fumes.

Practically every doctor in town" answered the emergency call that was broadcast immediately, the McAllen Monitor reported.

Officials closed all seven McAllen schools for an indefinite period while tests are made to determine the cause of the escaping gas or gas fumes.

The Lincoln school is heated by natural gas. Each room has its own gas stove.

All stoves in the school were "going full blast" the Monitor reported. McAllen, in the semi-tropical Rio Grande Valley, has been in the grip of severe cold for that area, but the temperature had risen to about 35 degrees when the eight teachers and 28 pupils became ill.

About 200 pupils attend the school.

Bulletins

CHICAGO —(UP)— More than 35 children were overcome or made ill today when poisonous chlorine gas seeped through Kelvyn Park high school.

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The Displaced Persons commission today urged Congress to admit 400,000 war refugees to the United States in the next four years—almost double the present program.

Probation Violator Sentenced

Crestliner Before Judge In Bucyrus

BUCYRUS—Edward R. Cooper, 22, Crestline, was sentenced to an indeterminate term in the Ohio State reformatory at Mansfield at his arraignment here Saturday before Common Pleas Judge C. U. Ahl.

Prosecutor Leo J. Scanlon said Cooper had been placed on probation by the court a few months ago following his arraignment on a burglary charge.

The prosecutor said he was arrested Friday in Mansfield in connection with the theft of an automobile belonging to Peter Gregory, Crestline theater owner.

Following his arrest, Cooper appeared before Judge Ahl as a probation violator and was sentenced on the original charge, which carries a sentence of from one to 15 years.

Hoover Sees Tax at Brim

WASHINGTON — (UP) — Former president Herbert Hoover said today that this country has reached "the saturation point" in taxation and that government costs must be reduced.

Mr. Hoover testified before the House Executive Expenditures committee in support of President Truman's request for broad powers to reorganize the government. He said that "economies would be considerable" through the grant of such power.

He stressed the need for such economies, saying the burden of government is piling up on the average citizen.

Mr. Hoover said that at present "we have a form of organization that is hopeless by way of economy."

Skating Ponds Ready Tomorrow

Frank Burton, park superintendent, said today the Liberty and North Lake park skating ponds will be open to the public tomorrow.

"The ice already is frozen," Burton reported, "but it is covered with snow and we won't be able to get crews to clean it until tomorrow. They have to concentrate on clearing the park walks today.

Building Junk Yard Big Task For Players' Committee

By MARGUERITE MILLER

Ten candidates for the "busiest women in Mansfield" title may well belong to the property committee for the Mansfield Community Players' production, "Suds In Your Eye," to be presented Feb. 8 and 9 at John Simpson auditorium.

Headed by Mrs. Betsy McGinty, the committee has been faced with rounding up everything from wooden Indians to bull's heads and bathtubs. They have a pretty good chance of getting the Indian, but they fear they'll have to substitute another animal for the bull.

So far the property list of some 30-odd items is fairly well filled. A kitchen sink, bedsprings, car cushions, and "home made" sunflowers, lilies and rosebushes have been added. All the unusual "props" will be used in the junkyard setting of the rollicking comedy.

Meanwhile, Walter Perl, technical director of the play, reported that he has rounded up 1,608 beer cans for the junk-yard fence —one of the most "imposing" features of the play's setting.

Members of the busy property committee, under Mrs. McGinty's direction, include: Miss Shirley Anson, Miss Ruth Preston, Miss Marian Draffan, Mrs. Nancy Talcott, Miss Eleanor Bond, Mrs. Dorothy French and Mrs. Clarice Clark, who have small parts in the show, Mrs. Phyllis Schettler and Mrs. Jane Taylor. Miss Anson and Mrs. Taylor, assigned to costumes for the show, volunteered their services on the property committee.

Ex-Newsman Given Post

Alvin L. Krieg, former Mansfield public relations man, and at one time service editor of The News-Journal, has been appointed assistant director of public relations of American Steel and Wire company, it was announced today.

A native of Lorain, Krieg spent 10 years in newspaper and press association work before coming to Mansfield in 1939 as public relations representative for Westinghouse. In 1941, he joined the News-Journal staff as service editor, and served in that capacity until he left for the Army.

Upon his discharge from service, he entered the public relations staff of the American Steel and Wire company, a U. S. Steel subsidiary, in February, 1946. He is married and resides in Lorain.

Rail Parley Will Reopen

CHICAGO —(AP)— A conference between representatives of the nation's railroads and 16 nonoperating unions arjourned Saturday and planned to resume its wage-hour talks Tuesday morning.

Neither side would comment on what gains, if any, toward settlement were made yesterday except for one railroad spokesman who said "the conferees are making progress."

The unions, representing a million workers, are legally free to call a strike at any time if negotiations over wages and hours fail. All legal preliminaries to a strike have been complied with.

Both sides have expressed dissatisfaction with recommendations of a fact finding board. The unions had demanded a wage boost of 25 cents an hour, and a reduction in the work week from 48 to 40 hours. They also asked time and a half for Saturday work and double time for Sundays and holidays.

WANTS DOUBLED OUTPUT

CINCINNATI — (INS) — The nation eventually will be crawling with tiny automobiles if Powell Crosely jr., has his way. The head of the Crosley Motors at Cincinnati announced that his firm's production of small cars will be up to 50,000 in 1949.

Li Flees, Chinese Negotiating Piecemeal Surrenders

President Flies To Shanghai

Nanking Without Any Top Official

NANKING — (UP)— A government spokesman announced today that the Nationalists have rejected a communist demand for the detention of Kuomintang "war criminals" named by the communists in a list headed by Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek.

NANKING — (INS) — China's acting president, Li Tsung-Jen flew from Nanking to Shanghai today as local nationalist officials moved to negotiate separate regional surrenders to the communists.

The acting president's departure from Nanking left the capital emptied of all central government leaders and agencies. The city council moved to make separate peace with the nearby reds for the Nanking area.

The capital and its environs lay virtually at the mercy of communist forces massed just across the Yangtze river. Even nationalist garrison troops were scarcely in evidence.

Acting president Li landed in Shanghai this afternoon. It was disclosed in a dispatch from China's largest city—itself menaced by the reds. There was no official announcemen. regarding the purpose of Li's flight to Shanghai, 170 miles east-southeast of Nanking

NEGOTIATOR FLEES

Among the leaders known to have gone to Shanghai from Nanking was Shao Li-Tze, head of the peace delegation appointed by Li in a futile attempt to open negotiations with the communists.

Intense efforts were being pursued to obtain a cease fire and the opening of separate regional peace talks for Nanking and the Nanking area.

The capital's city council headed a local group trying to contact the communist command, across the Yangtze, for the start of negotiations expected to lead to the surrender of Nanking without further fighting.

This was the pattern followed in the recent capitulation of Peiping and the regional peace settlement for north China.

Guard Seeks 5 Officers

Company F, 145th Infantry, Mansfield National Guard unit, has openings for five officers, Capt. Charles A. Boughton, commander of Co. F, announced today. He said the commissions are for either first or second lieutenants, and applicants may come from anywhere in Richland county.

Eligible for commissions in the National Guard are men who served as warrant officers and non-commissioned officers in the first three grades for at least six months since Dec. 7, 1941.

Former enlisted men who are college graduates, who meet the minimum age requirements, and have not passed their 28th birthdays at time of appointment, may appear before an examining board and be commissioned as a second lieutenant, Boughton said.

He said National Guardsmen called into active service would carry the same commissioned rank in the regular army. Boughton urged qualified men interested in the openings to see him at the Mansfield Armory on Ashland road any Tuesday between 7 and 9 p. m.

Buses were running 15 minutes to a half hour behind schedule. The railroads reported that as yet the snow had not slowed them down. All trains were running on schedule.

Although the Ohio river at Cincinnati was expected to crest at 53 feet, three feet above flood stage, experts said the river was already falling upstream and the danger of any serious flooding from Parkersburg, W. Va., to Cincinnati had passed.

At least 20 state roads were still closed today because of high water, including Route 95 at the Ashland county line in Wayne county.

COLD IN WEST

Severe cold settled over the Western range states where an estimated 5,500,000 cattle and sheep were starving and freezing amid giant snowdrifts. Skies were clear, however, and all "Operation Haylift" planes took wing to carry feed to the imperiled stock.

The U. S. Weather Bureau issued warnings that snowfall would be heavy today throughout the Ohio River valley as far east as Washington.

Snow fell at Baton Rouge, only 80 miles from New Orleans, and reached a depth of 10 inches at Spring Hill, La. Schools closed in 21 Louisiana parishes.

Sleet in New Orleans dragged down stately palm trees and weighted the Spanish moss with so much ice that limbs broke off the live oaks. Louisiana's $1,000,000 strawberry crop was feared to be a total loss and peach growers in southern Georgia expected to suffer heavily. Both crops were in full bloom.

Temperatures fell to 26 degrees in the Rio Grande valley and many of the area's 12,000,000 orange and grapefruit trees were covered with ice. The valley's 25,000 acres of tomatoes appeared to have been wiped out.

Sleet and snow fell at Galveston and Corpus Christi, on the gulf and an inch of snow covered central Mississippi. Jackson, Miss., had five inches as the mercury dipped to 22 degrees. Two weeks ago, Jackson sweltered in an 85-degree heat wave.

specific duties than the one which preceded it.

The House approved the resultant resolution (H. R. 282) on May 26, 1938, after a vigorous debate which I witnessed I was at that time working as a doorkeeper in the House chamber and attending national university (Washington, D. C.), studying law.

OPPOSED BY RANKIN

One of the first to oppose the resolution was Rep. John Rankin (D., Miss.), who was later to make it a permanent committee through his remarkable knowledge of the House rules. Rankin believed that Dickstein, whom he did not like, would become chairman of the new committee. When he learned Dies was in line for the post, he withdrew his objection.

Another who, ironically enough, opposed the resolution was Rep. J. Parnell Thomas (R.,N.,J.), eventually its chairman. But, after lodging preliminary opposition Thomas announced that he favored establishing the committee, for he had become familiar with Bund activities at New Jersey's Camp Nordland.

There immediately was raised the first of a now countless (and later to be enumerated) series of obstacles. Dies, eager to begin the committee's work, asked for an appropriation of $100,000 But Rep. Lindsey Warren, chairman of the Committee on Accounts, reported a resolution authorizing $25,000.

'PURE DYNAMITE'

Dies was a good friend, and so it was not unusual that I was in his office the day he called his uncle, Jack Dies, in Houston and informed him that the committee had been granted only $25,000. His uncle reminded him that the committee probably would be one of unadulterated dynamite, and urged his nephew to give it up.

In my small way I persuaded Dies to carry on. I offered to serve as secretary of the committee for no pay.

Dies thought this over for a time, then called Reps. Dempsey, Starnes and Mosier. The three, who were leaving Washington now that Congress had adjourned, accepted my meager offer and urged Dies to hire an investigator or two. There was not much enthusiasm.

Dies gave me a desk in his outer office. I borrowed an empty file case from his secretary, and the House un-American Activities committee began to breathe — slightly.

In the decade that followed we were to expand to many rooms, to agencies in leading U.S. cities, a taff of 75, and 600 filing cases containing more than 1,000,000 names, records, dossiers and data pertaining to subversion — including the "pumpkin papers" of Whittaker Chambers.

Yet it has been subjected to the most determined and articulate abuse by Presidents Roosevelt and Truman, many of their cabinet officers, liberals, leftists and Reds.

FEW REWARDS

To serve as a member of the committee, however loyally or patriotically or honestly, is to be held up to public ridicule and worse. There are few rewards, if any. It was typical of the committee's hardships when President Truman denounced it as a red-herring activity immediately after we had uncovered the most shocking document-stealing plot in the history of the nation.

Personally, I've had my fill and am glad to step out. I've been one of those who, working in what amounts to a necessary sewer project, is lauded by some of those who stand far off and recognize the value of the work. But the stigma is there.

I want to tell in detail the price that men must pay for the dubious privilege of being reviled in print and on the air. I want to tell how remarkably difficult it is to direct the people's attention to a sleepless conspiracy being waged against them.

MR. AND MRS. C. K. ALTMAN

Observes Silver Anniversary

MR. AND MRS. C. K. ALTMAN, R. D. 2, Perrysville, received more than 150 guests Sunday at their home in celebration of their 25th wedding anniversary. Open house was held from 2 to 4 p. m. and from 7 to 9 p. m. with Altman's daughters, Mrs. Robert Shrewsberry, Miss Betty Altman, both of Mansfield, and Miss Jeannine Altman, as hostesses.

Forty attended from Mansfield. Other guests were from Butler, Cleveland, Bellville, Lucas, Bucyrus, North Robinson, Fredericktown, Marion, Lexington and Shelby.

The couple received many lovely gifts for the occasion. Mrs. Altman wore a blue crepe street length frock, made with a V-neckline, gathered waistline with slightly draped skirt. With this she wore an orchid. Mr. Altman presented Mrs. Altman with a diamond ring.

The same ensemble was worn by Mrs. Altman on Wednesday evening of last week when she and Mr. Altman repeated their wedding vows in a closed ceremony. Rev. Charles Sheriff officiated and a program of nuptial music was played by Mrs. Charles Ness. Miss Doris Bush was the vocal soloist. Only the immediate family witnessed the single ring candlelight service. In attendance were their two grandchildren, Charles Lynn and Roberta Irene Shrewsberry.

The Altmans were wed by Rev. H. F. Zata in Monroe, Mich., on Jan. 26, 1924.

When guests were served yesterday the long table was centered with a mixed bouquet of sweetpeas and daffodils and lighted with silver tapers in crystal candelabra. Mrs. Lloyd Lucas, a close friend, and Mrs. Dean Mitchell, a niece, both of Mansfield, presided. Musical numbers were played at the piano by Miss Jeannine Altman.

WHICH TELEVISION STOCKS ARE IN THE "GROWTH" POSITION OF GENERAL MOTORS AND DOW CHEMICAL OF 25 YEARS AGO?

Fortunes have been made in "growth" stocks in the past. For example, $1,000 invested in 1924 in each of the five stocks listed below, with dividends and split-ups reinvested each year, would have grown to $225,000 by 1948!

Original Investment	Stock	Value, 1948
$1,000	Sears, Roebuck	$28,000
$1,000	General Motors	$34,000
$1,000	duPont	$45,000
$1,000	Coca-Cola	$63,000
$1,000	Dow Chemical	$63,000
$5,000		$225,000

Fortunes are being made again in "growth" stocks. Right now television is roughly comparable to radio in the early 1920's; to the auto industry a decade before.

Yes, television is growing fast. Production of television sets has risen from 10,000 in 1946; to 179,000 in 1947; to 800,000 in 1948. And responsible industry spokesmen predict 2,000,000 new sets for 1949!

Mansfield News-Journal

AN INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER

Closer scrutiny of the so-called "fair deal" program indicates that it will cost a lot of money—which seems perfectly all right to those who won't have to pay it.

Mansfield's next mayor must be chosen from among those who file declarations of candidacy by Wednesday—seems early in the year, doesn't it?

Hospital Requirements Have Grown

WHILE Mansfield's General hospital has been substantially increased in size and facilities since it was opened in June 1918, requirements for hospital services have expanded greatly during the intervening thirty years, until now there is urgent need for either further enlargement of General hospital or a second hospital, as some growing cities provide.

Present plans, however, go no further than to contemplate erection of a 62-bed maternity wing to General hospital, as it is the increase in hospitalized maternity cases that has tended to overcrowd existing facilities—a situation that was not fully anticipated a third of a century ago when it was common experience for babies to be born in homes.

Trends all over the country have been toward betterment of hospital facilities, with assurance of this service for all who need it, and that must be a thought in Mansfield as the problem presented by an overcrowded hospital is considered and the best solution sought.

To Promote Better Understanding

OPPORTUNITY for some German women to learn the processes of democracy by a visit to this country, as proposed by the U. S. office of military government in Germany, has been endorsed by the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's clubs, which pledges co-operation.

As explained by Dr. K. Frances Scott, president of the organization, it is believed that this offers opportunity to contribute toward better understanding between the German and American nations.

Intention is for the club group to sponsor a German business or professional woman for a stay of six weeks in New York and later travel about the country, observing the operation of local clubs, district meetings, etc. thus being enabled to educate and instruct women's groups in her own country.

Plan is that the government will pay transportation to and from this country, with the hope that individuals or groups will accept personal and some financial responsibility during the stay of visitors, as is being volunteered by the Business and Professional Women's clubs.

'Restricted' Drivers' Licenses

FEW PERSONS above the age of 16 are likely to object to announced intention of Frank M. Quinn, new state registrar of motor vehicles, to tighten up an issuance of restricted drivers' licenses to 14 and 15-year-olds.

While it has been a requirement that such licenses be granted only in cases of actual need, they have frequently been used for what is called "pleasure driving" and it is this practice that is to be frowned on hereafter.

There has been indication, for the past several years, of growing belief that 16 is the absolute minimum age at which a child should be entrusted with driving a car, and of the 14 and 15-year-olds there is appearance of quite general agreement with Mr. Quinn, that "their powers of judgment are not developed enough to make them safe drivers."

But, then again, age doesn't seem to have much to do with the matter of safe driving—as witness the exhibitions of recklessness by some who are in the considerably higher age brackets.

'Running a Store' Isn't Easy Job

ONE of the highest rates of business mortality exists in retail trade. Various reasons explain this. For one thing, running a store often looks deceptively easy, and people try it without adequate resources in either money, experience, or aptitude.

There is nothing simple about retailing. Like any other worth-while endeavor, it demands certain abilities and characteristics if a man is to succeed. He must be willing to study and learn. He must have a genuine desire to serve the public, and to please people so that they will come back again and again.

Above all, he must have the competitive instinct—the instinct which makes him want to do a better job than the storekeeper down the street or in the next town. He must be constantly seeking ways and means to make his store more attractive to the public.

For those with the necessary resources, retailing offers great opportunities—but it is no place for the man who fears competition or who has small faith in himself.

Expansionist Idea That Flopped

WHAT A DIFFERENCE fifty years make! Half a century ago the United States was filled with enthusiasm over the acquisition of the Philippines. Public men boasted that they were "expansionists," which if it meant anything, meant a belief in the United States adding to its territories whenever possible.

Now we know that possession of the Philippines in no way added to our strength, that it was a costly venture and a military weak spot. The act granting the islands their long-promised freedom was perhaps due as much to a realization that the Philippines were a burden as to the altruistic idea of granting liberty to a subject people.

What the world needs is general disarmament, with the material investment in arms turned to fruitful purposes But there seems to be little chance of such sensible procedure in the present generation.

What Some Other People Are Saying

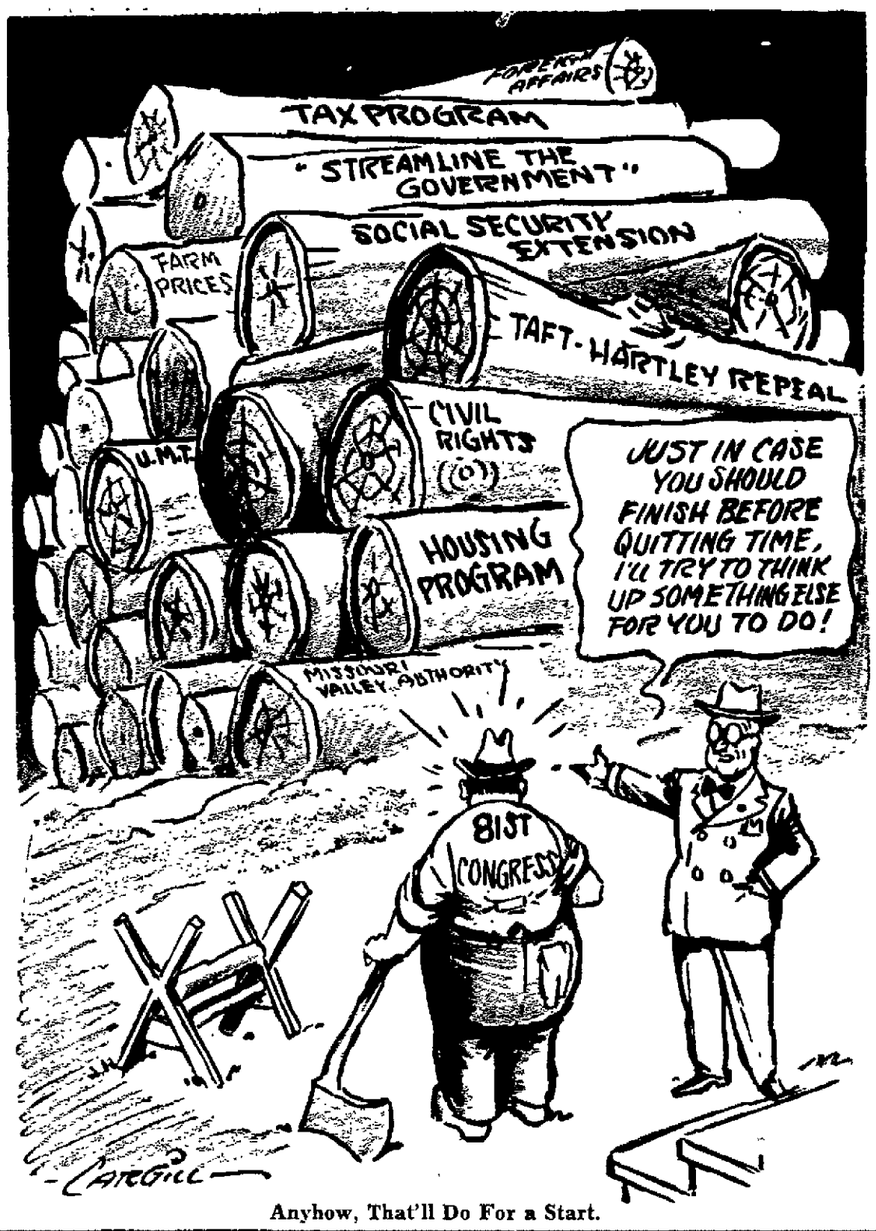
Federal Judge HAROLD R. MEDINA, presiding at the trial of 11 top U. S. communists "I have no great opinion of myself but I have great respect for the office I hold. I represent here not the rich, nor the poor, but all the people, and the majesty of the U. S. government."

* * *

GEN. DOUGLAS MacARTHUR: "(Russia) has hoped so to mutilate the masses that there could be imposed through the resulting despair and misery a godless concept of totalitarian enslavement."

* * *

CHARLES E. BOHLEN, state department counsellor: "We have to look forward to a long period of struggle and effort before we achieve a stable and tranquil world."



Anyhow, That'll Do For a Start.

Looking Back

Twenty Years Ago Today

Thursday, Jan. 31, 1949.

Eighteen graduates from commercial department of high school were immediately placed in positions.

Health Commissioner T. R. Meyer warned that smallpox epidemic in Mansfield area was serious.

Deputy Probate Judge Milton W. Conley was called to Chicago by illness of sister, Mrs. Thomas McBee.

Daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Henry Senert, 100 Dawson avenue.

Plans for proposed new Y. M. C. A. building, corner West Fourth and Mulberry streets, were being drawn by Vernon Redding and associates, architects.

Annual meeting of Manufacturers' club was held at Mansfield-Leland hotel and J. S. Tritle succeeded E. K. Bacon as president.

Surprise party was given for Mr. and Mrs. Charles Froats, 48 Dudley avenue, on their silver wedding anniversary.

TODAY IN HISTORY

On Jan. 31, 1912, the United States Senate created a children's bureau in the department of commerce and labor.

Washington Calling

For Better or Worse

By MARQUIS CHILDS

WHAT is being bravely said in the aftermath of the Republican dogfight is that the party must still have life in it if it can stir the kind of passion and fury heard in Omaha last week.

While this has a certain validity, it is at the same time hard to see how any organization so torn by feuds and factionalism can reshape itself in a new and vigorous fashion. After that close vote of 54 to 50 in favor of Chairman Hugh Scott, Scott's critics were predicting that in six months there would be another showdown and then the victory would belong to them.

"Candidates come and candidates go, but this committee goes on forever," said Jacob France, national committeeman from Maryland, as he introduced the resolution to remove Scott as chairman.

As two or three speakers had the candor to suggest, that may be the thing chiefly wrong with the party. The national committee today has the look of a permanent receivership for an institution tottering on the edge of bankruptcy.

The last time I saw the figure, which was some years ago, the average age of members of the committee was well over 60, and it must be considerably above that now. With few exceptions they have come out of the remote past, bringing with them utterly unchanged the ideas of the past.

Yet, no one proposed what was the only logical way out of the dead-end to which the party has come. That would be for the entire committee to resign.

For if Chairman Scott was guilty of losing an election, and that was the principal crime alleged against him, this same committee is guilty of losing five elections. These are the same men and women who went through the Hoover, Landon and Willkie campaigns and the first and second Dewey contests. They are permanently frozen into that tableau of the retreat from Moscow.

Yet, out of a deep sense of frustration, many committee members were interested only in finding a scapegoat for last November. As they drummed Wendell Willkie out of the party for his failure, so they wanted, out of a double-distilled bitterness, to read Scott and, through him, Thomas E. Dewey, out of the Grand Old Party.

* * *

Woman Speaks Up.

WHAT became increasingly apparent as passion boiled beneath the surface was that the Scott-Dewey opposition had nothing positive or constructive to unite around.

In the long, unhappy debate some speakers recommended that a little soul-searching by the committee itself was in order. One of them was a woman, Mrs. Consuelo Northrop Bailey, national committee woman from Vermont.

Mrs. Bailey began with something like an apology. She said she had been a member only 13 years and had waited all that time to speak her mind. With this preamble she read to her colleagues—in good old Vermont common sense—a much-needed lecture about self-examination.

Yet most of the committee, steeped in ancient habit, weary and disillusioned, did not seem to recognize that need.

In the face of the angry attacks directed at him, Scott conducted himself with quiet dignity and thereby won friends and admirers. He is not at all the conventional type of politician, which may be one reason the old-timers distrust him.

But as one of his defenders pointed out, he is the only World War II veteran on the committee. If he had been tossed out here, veterans and younger voters would have taken it as a sign that they were not wanted in the Republican party.

As Dewey well understood in the campaign, it was precisely the younger voters who have been alienated. If Scott can reconcile a 54-to-50 division within his committee and begin to win back the younger generation, then we will have proof that the GOP is alive and not merely in a state of quarrelsome senility.

Minimum Wage Argument

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON — Once more the old battle opens up: raising the minimum wage from 40 cents to 75 cents an hour.

About $1.37 an hour is the average hourly wage paid in American manufacturing industries.

So the argument about raising the minimum wage may seem a little remote to people making more than 40 to 75 cents an hour.

But it still affects many people, about 1,500,000, and you'll be reading about it for some time. Here's the background on it.

In 1938 Congress passed the minimum wage law. It said people working in certain kinds of business should:

Get at least 25 cents an hour until 1939, then to 30 cents an hour till 1945, and 40 cents an hour after 1945.

Since the law wasn't changed after 1938, that 40 cents an hour, reached in 1945, is still the lowest wage that can be paid people in certain kinds of businesses. What kind?

Certain firms doing business across state lines. For example: Lumber, tobacco, leather, clothing, furniture, food products.

Congress was able to pass a law covering such businesses because the government controls interstate commerce.

Such a law couldn't cover a local firm, like a corner candy store, which did business entirely within a state

Unless there was a state minimum wage law, such a firm could pay its employes as little as it could get away with.

* * *

Some Omissions.

BUT Congress said some businesses and industries which did trade across state lines were not under the federal minimum wage law. For example, Farming, fishing, airlines and retail places like department stores.

By passing the law, Congress was trying to set up a floor under wages.

But Secretary of Labor Tobin has pointed out that living costs have risen far beyond what Congress figured on when, in 1938, it thought 40 cents an hour would be a fair minimum wage after 1945.

Tobin wants it raised to at least 75 cents an hour. He told Congressmen 75 cents an hour now is worth about as much as 40 cents when the law was passed in 1938.

The White House has been trying for years to get the minimum wage raised.

Last year the Senate voted to boost it to 60 cents an hour. But the law remained unchanged, and there was no raise, for the House did nothing about it.

Altogether about 22,000,000 workers are in industries covered by the present law. But about 20,500,000 of them are making more than 75 cents an hour.

Labor unions and employers have argued about raising the minimum pay.

Said employers: It would be inflationary and result finally in higher wages all along the line.

Said unions: By keeping wages from sinking below a certain level, purchasing power is kept up.

Labor leaders also have argued for the "floor" for wages to protect employers who "want to pay a decent wage" from business rivals who may try for higher profits by wage-cutting to save costs.

The House labor committee is holding hearings on all this now, and will for some time.

'Economic Agreement' Now Proposed

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—A highly important off-the-record conference between the House armed services committee and the top military advisers of the Pentagon building last week may have set the pattern for a new policy of attempted cooperation with Russia.

The United States, the congressmen were told, hopes to work out a temporary "economic agreement" with Russia.

Furthermore, the state department sees no immediate prospect of war with Russia. The congressmen were even told that the Russians do not appear to be preparing for war.

These statements are in amazing contrast to the type of information which was handed out by Defense Forrestal's office just about a year ago. At that time newsmen and congressmen alike were told in hushed voices about the imminence of war, given details about sensational Russian airplane manufacture.

At the recent closed-door conference between congressmen and the brass hats, however, the ground was laid for cutting Air Force down from 70 air groups to 48 groups.

* * *

Forrestal Calls Meeting.

THE MEETING was called at the instance of Secretary Forrestal. He had the session well organized. Doing little talking himself, he called on various experts, the most important being George Kennan, the state department's chief Russian expert. Kennan is the famous Mr. X who devised the state department policy of surrounding Russia with a ring of anti-communist nations.

This time, however, Kennan talked about an "economic agreement" with Russia to promote world peace through better trade relations.

Kennan didn't specify the form of the agreement, except to say that Russia greatly needed American goods, because of production deficiencies behind the iron curtain, and probably would be willing to do business. Nor would the state department official guarantee success of the agreement on a long-time scale.

A permanent agreement with Russia outside the framework of the United Nations, for trade or other purposes, would have little chance of success.

But when Russia needs something, her leaders are practical enough to forget their animosities until the need is fulfilled. On our part, he added, a trade agreement with Russia, even of temporary character, would be a step in the direction of continuing world peace.

* * *

Unprepared for War.

THE state department still is convinced that Russia is not preparing for an armed war against the United States. She is not ready now and will not be ready in the forseeable future to cope with our vast military production in event of war, Kennan told the congressmen.

Best intelligence we have is that Russia won't have any appreciable production of atomic bombs until 1951, Kennan reported, and by that time we will make Russia's production of the bomb seem infinitesimal.

However, he stressed that war could break out in Europe, even though Russia is not planning on one.

For this reason, Kennan said, it was highly urgent that we expedite action on the proposed Atlantic Pact, both to implement the Marshall Plan and to give West European nations further assurances of protection against Russia.

The Atlantic Pact would be a strong "morale builder" for these nations, he emphasized. The Marshall aid program has been as "successful as anyone could hope," he said, but countries which have aroused Russian ire as a result of our help, are clamoring for definite evidence of armed assistance.

Armed services committeemen also get a fill-in on our sensational new B-36 bomber from Air Secretary Stuart Symington, who reported that late tests proved the plane capable of a phenomenal flying range.

ONE LADY who was certain the Democrats would stage a comeback in November was Mrs. John McCormack of Massachusetts, wife of the House majority leader. Mrs. M. saved her husband's left-over stationery from the 1946 election; now he doesn't have to buy any . . . Latest election prophet to come out of the woods is Herbert Hoover. Close friends say that the former GOP president predicted a week before the election that Truman would win because Dewey was "talking down to the American people." . . . When Democratic leaders were looking for a place to store the files of the election-blitzed House small business committee, they discovered a box which once contained the impeachment records of President Andrew Johnson in 1868. . . . Liberal Congressman John Dingell of Michigan hasn't bought a new pair of shoes in 10 years. . . . "Wish I could say the same for my kids," says Dingell, who has three . . . The White House is wondering if the stunning Senate defeat of the resolution exempting inaugural tickets from taxation may be a harbinger of things to come on such issues as taxation, civil rights and health insurance.

Communists In Court

By INEZ ROBB

NEW YORK—I have ever cherished the depressing conviction that all lady members of the Communist party are in the Ana Pauker or female wrestler category.

Nothing the appearance of the party females now attending the trial of eleven top communist leaders in the United States District Court has caused me to change my mind about their grim resemblance to Ana, Romania's distaff communist boss.

The sprinkling of communist ladies who sit in the spectators' section across from the press benches seem a drab lot. And I cannot help but think that a whale of a political difference even one Sally Victor or Lilly Dache hat might have made at some crucial point in their lives.

But if the ladies' auxiliary of the party is drab, not so the eleven top leaders now on trial, charged with conspiracy to teach and advocate the overthrow of the United States government by force.

They sit in a long resplendent row behind their equally dapper attorneys. They are almost belligerently well-tailored, well-barbered and well-fed. These are not the greasy longhairs in unpressed tweeds or the baggy-hacks of Union Square and Columbus Circle.

The plain fact of the matter is that not one of the eleven looks the popular concept of a radical. They look—heaven save the Marx—like prosperous business men.

Even Eugene Dennis, general secretary of the Communist party, with his handsome Irish face beneath a gray wind-blown bob, pass for that party anathema, A "Westchester executive."

Federal jurors have been under scornful and blistering attack from the defense as members of "a rich man's club," as men of property and hence of prejudice, and as generally suspect because they own two suits of clothes.

* * *

Don't Look Downtrodden.

SOMETIMES I wonder whether communists and their lawyers just naturally have no sense of humor or whether the latter ever really take a good look at the former.

Certainly, these eleven men on trial look as if they had been suffering no economic pain for considerable time, and assuredly there are some notable trenchermen among them.

Don't tell me that Gus Hall, chairman of the Ohio Communist party, or Dennis, got their aldermanic paunches through sheer sedentary devotion to the party waist-line!

The defendants exude an air of ease, self-assurance, high life and high spirits. None of them seems to have suffered to any great extent, or to be bleeding at the pores for the down-trodden proletariat.

The court room air of the eleven defendants is that of the old Joe Louis stepping into the ring with Max Baer. Robert G. Thompson, chairman of the New York state Communist party, and Irving Potash, communist national board member, wear the party's perpetual dialetic sneer.

But the other nine have an air of joviality that does appear—if I may make a timid suggestion—to be out of all proportion to the seriousness of the crime with which they are charged. It doesn't seem any laughing matter to me, but it certainly does to these cutups who laugh and whisper animatedly among themselves and with their attorneys.

Among the avowed communist spectators there is one with a difference. He is the Rev. Eliot White, 76, for many years assistant minister at Grace Episcopal church, one of the city's most rich and exclusive.

When he retired from the ministry eight years ago, the Rev. White calmly announced that he was a party member. He comes regularly to the trial in his immaculate black canonicals and his pristine collar on backward. His face is old and saintly, as finely chiseled as a face on a coin, and framed by snow white hair.

How did such a man get to be a communist. In his gentle old voice he explained it all to me during a court recess. As assistant minister at Grace church, he worked in the terrible and teeming lower east side tenements almost fifty years ago, and later he went to Ellis Island as chaplain in a time when as many as 3,000 immigrants arrived daily in New York.

What he saw in those years horrified him. But he said today:

"I don't want to overthrow anything. I'm a conservative, really. I just want to conserve what is good in our country. You know, it was my great uncle who hung out the two lights for Paul Revere."

It's a far cry from Dennis to the Rev. White, or maybe it takes all kinds to make a Communist party.

As Cerf Tells It

George Jessel, presiding over a banquet in his inimitable fashion, suddenly stepped off the dias, dropped to one knee, and warbled "Rock-a-bye Your Baby To A Dixie Melody" in flawless fashion. As the party was breaking up, Gene Markey said to him, "George, I never knew you could sing that well."

"I can't sing at all," protested Jessel. "I was just imitating Al Jolson."

On Becoming Grandpa

By CALVIN A. BYERS

OUR daughter's new baby is a seven-pound girl, born five days ago. Mother and baby came home by ambulance from the hospital today.

Ever since the stork began to hover around the blue and silver house-trailer in our plum orchard, people have kidded me about the dangers of becoming a grandpa. Now, looking upon the young mother with the small dark head fitted into the curve of her arm, while the tall proud young father stands by, I can truthfully say that it took awhile but 'twas worth it . . . the king and queen of England have nothing on my wife and me!

Our home is more abundant and complete than ever. We are not unmindful to raise our hearts in thankfulness to the Giver of all good things.

There is joy and fulfillment about a baby in the house Memories of other years come crowding back to bless our humble rural home . . . the four young uncles, like stairsteps, tiptoe in to peek into the white basket with folding legs.

"Margaret Susan," says one. "Dignified name for such a mite."

"Does she sleep ALL the time?" asks his brother.

"How quick and soft her breath is!"

"She's waking up—look, she's hiding her face with her hands!"

The baby's fingers find her mouth. She makes a noise like a young pheasant, half awake. Then her big blue-gray eyes open for an instant before she puckers her round phiz, opens her mouth, and begins to yell. It is such a lusty, adequate yell that everyone who listens has to smile.

Grandma—that's MY wife—bustles in, with a familiar square of white. This is a diaper of unhemmed gauze—not birdseye, or outing. Modern babies seem to have more streamlined upholstery than the older models did.

It seems natural and right to have the baby here. They can call me grandpa, and I'll learn to like it. Of course, it made me feel somewhat older, just at first.

But then, this baby has two sets of great-grandparents . . . four living generations on each side of the house. I talked with one great-grandfather and he declared he felt younger, "like a fellow with his second wind." Both those great-grandfathers are bigger men than I. It seems discreet for this greenhorn grandpa to walk softly . . . what if Great Grandfathers, Inc. should 'gang up' on me!

LIFE'S LIKE THAT

"It just took a little juggling of the budget figures . . . If you don't mind going without your lunch for a while!"

DID YOU KNOW THAT—

Paper patterns for clothing sold during 1948 exceeded 200 million, report home sewing analysts, compared to 168 million in 1947, the previous record-breaking figure.

Why Is a Cocktail Party?

The blast of the rookie Senator, Paul Douglas, against Washington cocktail parties after two or three weeks of non-stop attendance as a guest, recalls a perfect characterization of these affairs by an observant woman, not long in the Capital but long enough to know the score:

"They bring together a lot of people of the kind who look over each other's shoulders during a conversation and excuse themselves the minute they spot anyone who can do more for them than the person to whom they are talking."—Detroit News.

DOROTHY ANN WEAVER WEDS DEANE L. WALLACE

Formal Open Church Ceremony Solemnized Uniting Mansfield Girl and Woodstock Man

ST. MATTHEW'S Lutheran church was the scene of the lovely wedding ceremony solemnized yesterday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock for Miss Dorothy Ann Weaver, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Boyd Weaver, 587 Park avenue west, and Deane Lawrence Wallace of Woodstock, O. Open church was observed for the nuptial rite. Mrs. Charles Ness presided at the organ for the program of wedding music. Mrs. Charles Herberich of Akron was the soloist.

Mr. Weaver gave his daughter in marriage. She was attired in a formal wedding gown of white satin, made with an exquisite beaded effect at the yoke as the only trim. Altar vases of white snapdragons, many palms and two seven-branch candelabra formed a pretty background for the service.

Miss Kemp was given in marriage by her brother, Harry A. Kemp of Shelby.

For her wedding the bride chose a white slipper satin gown, fashioned with a U-shaped neckline, trimmed with seed pearls on lace. The skirt was full, gathered to a fitted bodice. The long-fitted sleeves ended in points over the hands. Her fingertip length illusion veil was held in place by a tiara of pearized orange blossoms. She carried a front style bouquet of white glads, white carnations and gardenias.

Mrs. Dean L. Cline, matron of honor, wore a pale pink gown of faille with a bertha forming the neckline. The fitted bodice joined a skirt which had a wide drape across the front of the hips, ending in a bustle effect in back.

She carried a front style bouquet of pink carnations and yellow roses trimmed with yellow ribbons.

Mrs. Kemp wore an afternoon frock of light silver gray with gray and black accessories and a pink rose corsage. Mrs. Laws, mother of the bridegroom, was attired in an afternoon frock of dark green crepe with dark green and black accessories and wore a corsage of yellow roses.

Dean L. Cline of Shelby, a close friend of the bridegroom, served as best man. Ushers were Howard H. Knapp and Desmond Richards, both of Shelby.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held in the church parlors. Refreshments were served to 65 guests from a table centered with a bowl of white flowers and a three tiered wedding cake, topped with a white bell. Crystal holders held white lighted tapers.

When the newlyweds left for a wedding trip to Washington, D. C., and from there down the coast to Newport News, Va., to visit Mr. Laws' sister, the bride wore a light brown tailored suit with a dark green topper, dark brown and dark green accessories and a corsage of gardenias.

After a week's trip the couple will reside in Shelby. The bridegroom is a graduate of Plymouth high school and is employed at the Parsel Air Supply depot. Mrs. Laws, a graduate of Shelby high school, is a typist-clerk at North American Knitting company.

Dessert-Bridge Honor Friends

Mrs. H. W. Erickson entertained friends at a dessert bridge Friday evening at the home of her mother, Mrs. C. R. Damron, 30 South Mulberry street. Mrs. Erickson's is the former Ruth Damron.

Dessert was served at a table set with crystal and silver on lace. The scene was lighted with white tapers in crystal candelabra.

Bridge was the diversion of the evening. When scores were tallied, the prizes were awarded to Miss Janet Banks, Mrs. R. M. Schoeman and Mrs. Jack Hammett.

Out-of-town guests present were Mrs. Robert Whiting of Cleveland, the former Helen Pecht of Mansfield, and Miss Helen Marie McClure, who is a student at Muskingham college.

The 'Clickety-Clack' of Old-Time Telegraphers Now Disappearing

COLUMBIA, S. C. —(AP)— From the upstairs room between midnight and dawn comes a clickety clack.

It sounds in the traffic room of the Western Union and nobody hears it but an old-eared man leaning toward retirement. He is one of a race of heroes dying out in our own lifetime. And nobody but themselves bothers to know that they are going.

"Clickety clack—clickety clack—clickety clack . . . ."

Through the dead silences of the night come the messages. A boy from Germany says he's arriving home with a fraulein wife—a father in California says in ten words that mother is dying—and makes the tenth word "Love." From Kansas City a husband lets his wife know he arrived by plane okay on a foggy field.

"Clickety clack—clickety clack—clickety clack—."

Good and bad news speeds through the senseless night. And a telegrapher, a lone man in a doomed trade, takes the news down—and passes it on.

What men they were—and how few there are left—the old telegraphers. They stitched the American continent together with their clickety clack—clickety clack. Now the old timers are dropping out, one by one. Bright young girls tap out by hand on automatic transmitting machines the messages that used to go by Morse wire.

In the old days the Morse telegraphers used to grow gradually deafened by the staccato music of a sounder, whose noise was enlarged by a Prince Albert tobacco can stuck in to sharpen the clickety clack—the clickety clack.

"But we have to leave out the tobacco can now," said Lustre Delane Phillips, 56, who has been interpreting the clickety clacks since he was 14 years old.

"They found the sound carried too far. Somebody passing by outside who understood the Morse code might pick up a private message."

Phillips is the son of a country printer who named his children after the phenomenon of light. First came Hugh (hue) and then Day, Ray, Lustre, Bright, and Fair. A seventh child broke the pattern by naming herself Juanita. She wanted to avoid the family's sunshine prejudice.

Like all vanishing knights of the dwindling "dot and dash" empire, Lustre has his memories. He remembers the time when the clickety clack was the only way the news of the world was spelled out.

"I copied Jack Johnson's fight with Jim Jeffries at Reno for a country weekly," he recalled. "We had a special edition on the streets within an hour. That was record time for a weekly."

Phillips has been working nights for more than thirty years—the midnight to morning trick. The messages he transmits still affect him.

"It is a thrill to send word of the birth of a baby," he said, "and saddening to send word of a death. Especially at my age, when you realize the certain end of all things mortal."

Lustre isn't as pessimistic over the future of his profession as many men who feel the clickety clack of the telegrapher will soon be stilled forever.

"Most of the good old telegraphers have passed on," he said. "I don't say the future is bright for us. But there will always be somebody working a bug and somebody to receive it.

"That means there will always be two of us left."

And that means there always will be someone who has life by the ear.

Freak Wears Streamlined Dome

Cass Township Hen Lays Half An Egg

By GEORGE COMINOS

Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Swartz, of Cass township could write a book with the title: "The Half-Egg and Us." The book should be about the half the size of the best seller, "The Egg and I."

For Mrs. Swartz Saturday found a half egg laid by a hen on their farm. The fresh egg has a small stream-lined dome.

The egg appears to have had a cap applied by the hen after she found half of the shell missing.

Swartz, who is a deputy sheriff, brought the half-egg to the sheriff's office. He said it's the first egg of its kind he's ever seen and he's been gathering eggs for 30 years.

Swartz had no idea what caused the "half-egg."

"We've been feeding the hens the same feed as always," he added.

Up and Down the Street . . .

GOODBYE TO PET—

A dramatic little scene tugged at the heartstrings of passersby in front of a Mansfield veterinarian's office Sunday morning. A car pulled up to the office and a couple hesitated to leave the car. Finally the woman got out, gathered up a little dog in her arms, held him close and then walked slowly toward the office. The man followed. At the door of the office, the woman turned, and gave the dog back to the man who held him just a moment and then quickly opened the door and disappeared inside. The woman, wiping the tears from her eyes, turned slowly back to the car where she slumped down on the seat, her shoulders shaking. They had just said good bue to their 14-year-old pet, ill with heart disease since puppyhood, and too old to withstand the attacks.

Brave Weather To See Pontiac

Despite temperatures only about 15 degrees above zero, Mansfield motorists swarmed to the Weidner Pontiac salesroom at 22 East Second street Sunday to view the new 1949 model of the Pontiac automobile.

C. J. "Bill" Solomon, manager of the Weidner agency, reported that between 11:30 a. m. and 6 p m. an estimated 4,000 persons visited the display room to see the new four-door Chieftain model which is now on display.

The new line of Pontiacs features new lower styling, 38 per cent more glass area and additional fender streamlining. The car was continuing to attract attention of motorists today.

Girl Friday Commends FBI For Jailing Ex-GI On Treason Charge

DEAR MR. W.—Here's another citation for the FBI. Several minutes after the army gave that traitor (Monti) an honorable discharge and released him—the G-men locked him up for treason. He's doing 25 years. He's the one who said (at his trial) that isolationist publications and speeches "poisoned his mind." For which some of them sued you for libel. And lost . . . Massachusetts gambling, I hear, is expected to be wide open within the month. . . . Mme. Chiang will enter Medical Center about Feb. 1. . . . One of the swank spot owners was recently vetoed for membership at the Players' club. No less than six blackballs.

Saw something (I never knew about) in a restaurant last night. A woman used a knife (on the table) as a mirror to put on her lips...We had a darling of a rhubarb at a smart place the other ayem. A spifflicated socialite slapped the hostess and the bartender slugged the slapper. Not a word in the papyrus.

The literary world was aghast at the Authors' Dinner last week where Dr. Henry Seidel Canby lit into the "young" war writers. He said nothing worthwhile had come from them to date. John Hersey and Ira Wolfert were in the audience and when Canby said there were only two good war books ("War and Peace" and "Gone with the Wind") someone cracked: "Doc, you stopped at the Civil War"...

Time's book reviewer panned Lajos Zilahy's novel, "The Dukays," which Prentice-Hall just unveiled. It is getting rave reviews all over the nation. The book is about two sisters, daughters of a fabulous Hungarian aristocrat—so Time's critic calls them mother and daughter.

The same mag roasted "The Miracle of the Bells," which went over 500,000 copies and is printed in almost every lingo.

The Immigration people are cracking down on musicians—deporting many rhumba lads ...Some of the pickets were ready to put lamp shades on the lights at Carnegie Hall—but the news flashed about Gieseking being cancelled—so they're saving it for the next time.

Last week's flop show, "Leaf and Bough," elicited some eyebrow-raising critical reactions. One critic hailed the director, another praised the cast and a third lauded the author. But all three panned the show.

The book business is still not so good. The Book-of-the Month Club selection used to guarantee an author over $100,000. They just cut the guarantee again—down to 70.

Marietta Plays Big Games On Ohio College Program

By FRITZ HOWELL, Ohio AP Sports Editor

COLUMBUS—Marietta's Pioneers are cast in the giant-killer role this week in Ohio's collegiate basketball drama.

And if the River City crew can make good in the David-Goliath act, the Pioneers can move right out front in the staid old Ohio conference.

Just now the Mariettas are deadlocked in third place in the loop with Kent State, with three wins and a loss. Ahead of 'em are Muskingum with nine wins and two defeats, and Wittenberg's unbeaten Lutherans with three in a row.

Marietta tangles with Muskingum Thursday night at Marietta, and the Pioneers are tough on their home lot. Saturday the River City team invades the Wittenberg Tiger lair.

Muskingum tossed the loop standings into a turmoil last week end by nosing out Akron 64-62, the Zippers' first loss to an Ohio squad. Akron stayed atop the statewide standings with 11 wins in 13 starts.

Wilberforce wheeled into second place with 12-3, swamping Lockbourne Air Base 76-64, while Muskingum went into a third place tie with Cincinnati as the Bearcats bowed twice—44-34 to Phillips Oilers and 81-63 to West Virginia.

Leading games this week, in addition to the two Marietta classics, have Cincinnati entertaining Maryland Wednesday night and Xavier Saturday; Akron meeting Marshall Thursday in the Rubber City and invading Wooster Saturday; and Wilberforce meeting West Virginia State Tuesday and Cedarville Thursday.

DROP BIG ONES

In addition to its game with Marietta, Muskingum must brush aside high-scoring Capital Saturday night to stay near the peak. The Caps are rolling along at a 78.7 clip per game, but have dropped conference contests in which they've rolled up scores of 99, 63, 80 and 68.

The Buckeye boys have 53 games on tap this week—the season's biggest splurge—and 24 are against out-of-state opponents. Last week, in 19 games with foreigners, the Ohioans won eight and dropped 11, giving the home lads 93 wins against 83 losses in such competition for the campaign.

Butler's Bulldogs bowled over Ohio U. and Miami last week to take the Mid-American conference lead with four straight wins. Cincinnati, second with a 4-1 league mark, meets the Bulldogs in Cincinnati Feb. 22 in a game which may decide the laurels.

The week's schedule.

Ben, Jimmy Tie In Second Golf Tourney

PHOENIX, Ariz., — (AP) — Ben Hogan and Jimmy Demaret continue their golfing retake today when they meet in an 18-hole playoff to decide the winner of the $10,000 Phoenix open tournament.

Yesterday Hogan pulled the same trick he did the previous week at Long Beach, Calif., when he scored a one-under-par four on the final hole to tie Demaret. Both had 72-hole totals of 278—the highest in a Phoenix open since 1935.

Hogan had a final 74 and Demaret a 73 on the par 71 Phoenix Country Club course, a flat 6,578-yard layout.

THIRD IN ROW

Hogan seeks his third consecutive victory in open golf competition, having won the 1949 Bing Crosby event before his triumph at Long Beach.

Low scorer today takes $2,000 first prize and the loser $1,400—but each figures to earn considerably more.

They'll divide 50 per cent of the gate with the admission price set at $1.50. Yesterday's crowd was estimated at 4,000 to 5,000.

Johnny Palmer, Badin, N. C., Dr. Cary Middlecoff, Memphis, Tenn., and Sammy Snead, White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., finished in a tie for third with 280.

Glassford, Former Pitt Star, New Nebraska Football Boss

LINCOLN, Neb.—(AP)—William (Biff) Glassford is the new head football coach at the University of Nebraska.

His appointment to a $10 000 salary on a year to year contract was announced late Saturday. He has been head coach at the University of New Hampshire for three years

Glassford, who expects to be in Lincoln within a week, said in a phone conversation with Nebraska authorities he was "very happy" to accept the job

Glassford was appointed by the university of regents on the recommendation of Chancellor R. G. Gustavson and the athletic board

As football coach, Glassford succeeds George (Potsy) Clark, former Illinois star who quit the coaching job to devote full time to the post of athletic director

Clark's team last fall won two and lost seven games.

Glassford, a 200-pounder who made a good impression when he visited with the athletic board here several weeks ago, has a three-year record at New Hampshire of 19 wins, four losses and one tie.

He played in Lincoln in the late 30's as a guard on the University of Pittsburg team and captained the Pitt team that scored a 21-0 win over Washington in the 1937 Rose Bowl game

His coaching career began at Manhattan college, N. Y., where he was line coach in 1938-40. He was an assistant at Carnegie Tech in 1941 and at Yale in 1942

After coaching Navy teams at Miami Naval Air Base during the war, he went to New Hampshire in 1946 as head coach, succeeding George Sauer, former Nebraska star who went to Kansas and is now at the U. S. Naval academy.

Illini Cagemen Alone at Top In Big 9 Race

By ED SAINSBURY

CHICAGO — (UP)— Illinois' rocketing basketball team stood alone at the peak of the big nine race today with a rugged path looming ahead before the league title can come back to the successors of the famed "Whiz Kids".

The Illini knocked mighty Minnesota out of the nation's unbeaten ranks and first place in the big nine Saturday with a terrific second half scoring splurge for a 45 to 44 triumph. But tonight the Harry Combes five travels to Purdue, an erratic big nine entry which likes to play the same type of go-get-em basketball as Illinois, and an upset could result.

FEATURE CONTEST

That Lafayette contest will feature a two-game big nine bill tonight with Northwestern a definite underdog at Minneapolis against Minnesota in the second scrap. Michigan comes back to action after a brief vacation, tangling with Michigan State at Lansing in a non-conference brush.

Saturday night there will be three conference games, featuring the Illinois at Wisconsin and Minnesota at Ohio State engagements. The third brings Michigan to the Chicago Stadium to face Northwestern while Indiana will scrap with De Paul on the same floor to complete a double header.

The Purdue and Wisconsin games will give Illinois a sample of the rough road ahead in the big nine race. Later the Illini play Northwestern twicen Ohio State, Iowa, and Michigan. Michigan and Ohio State were certain to be difficult opponents while Northwestern, if its sophomores keep improving, could be mighty tough.

Tickets Nearly Gone For Game

At noon today all but 25 tickets to the Ashland-Senior high basketball game Friday night at Ashland had been sold according to ticket manager George Sherman.

Ashland won its 18th straight home game Saturday night by a 52-45 margin over Zanesville. Doug Shilliday and Junior Lersch led Ashland with 13 points each.

Kentucky Wants Another Chance

NEW YORK—(AP)—The mighty Kentucky Wildcats today appeared headed for a post-season basketball showdown with their only conqueror—St. Louis university.

Winners of five straight since their two-point Sugar Bowl loss to St. Louis, the Wildcats have kept quiet about their tournament plans. But it's no secret around their Lexington campus that they'd like another shot at easy Ed Macauley and company.

Kentucky, currently rated the second best team in the country, is the defending NCAA champion. St. Louis, the No. 1 team, is the ruling king of the other big March tournament, New York's national invitation.

Of course, tournament time is still six weeks away and lots of the balls will drop through the hoops between now and then.

Unbeaten major teams are practically extinct. Only Villanova (12-0) and Hamline (14-0) haven't been beaten and their schedules indicate it will be only a matter of time.

Villanova has to play Duquesne tonight, Chicago Loyola Wednesday, Baldwin-Wallace Thursday and Bowling Green (Ohio) Saturday, all away from home. Hamline should keep winning until Feb. 17 when it meets the Phillips Oilers.

Western Kentucky, ranked fourth in the latest Associated Press poll, and Minnesota, ranked fifth,, were defeated for the first time Saturday night.

Minnesota ran afoul of Illinois, 45-44, in the top game of the week at Champaign. Western was upset by its bitter intra-state rival, Eastern Kentucky, 42-40.

★

As a result of action in the last month, the chief contenders for the national championship may be found among the occasionally beaten. There are Kentucky (13-1) which murdered Notre Dame, 62-38, on Saturday; St. Louis (13-1), Oklahoma Aggies (11-2), Duquesne (10-2), Washington State (18-2), Stanford (17-2), Tulane (15-2) and Bradley (19-3). Several others are closely bunched with this group.
